PUT REV. TOMPKINS OUT.

His Landlady Says He Didn.t Pay Rent for His Boarding-Houses.

Supreme Court Justice Lawrence, to day heard a motion by counsel for Re-George Tomkins, a retired Baptist mir ister, to continue a temporary injunctio restraining Mary L. Seaton from inter boarding-houses at 400 and 411 West F ty-seventh street.

It was alleged that Mr. Tomkins ha It was alleged that Mr. Tomkins had a contract with the defendant to take possession of the boarding houses and pay her $350 a month rent. It was alleged, further, that the defendant had not only failed to carry out the contract, but had ejected Mr. Tomkins from the houses by force.

In behalf of the defendant, it was alleged that Mr. Tomkins had failed to pay the rent agreed upon.

Justice Lawrence reserved decision and granted the lawyers time in which to submit affidavits.

McArdle was accused recently by Lexow Witness Applegate of being inthe pay of "Green-Goods King" McNally, while stationed at the Grand Central Depot.

McArdle's case is one of particular interest to every one connected with the Police Department, and it is said that threre are at least two hundred members of the Police Department who are awaiting Judge Giegerich's decision.

A day or two after Applegate's testimony, McArdle applied for retirement on a pension.

In his decision, Judge Giegerich refers.

BARED HER ARM IN COURT.

Miss O'Leary Shows the Marks of Aged Mr. Hirsch's Teeth.

She Says He Assaulted Her While Their Dogs Fought.

A complicated case was presented to Justice McMahon, in Yorkville Police Court, to-day, when Edward Smallbach, Bet. Park Place and Aurray St. a painter, of 330 West Thirty-eighth street, was arraigned on a charge of assault, made by Nathan Hirsch, sixty years old, of 158 West Sixty-fifth street. Mr. Hirsch is a wealthy man. Before the hearing was over the tables were turned by a young woman, and on her complaint Mr. Hirsch was also charged complaint Mr. Hirsch was also charged with assault.

Hirsch owns two little pet dogs which he takes out for an airing every afternoon. Yesterday he was walking along West Sixty-fith street with his dogs when Mary O'Leary, of 140 West Sixty-fourth street, came up with two feroclous looking bloodhounds.

Miss O'Leary had one dog tied to a cord. The other grabbed Mr. Hirsch's terrier and shook him like a rat.

Mr. Hirsch advanced on Miss O'Leary's bloodhound with a heavy cane and beat him. Miss O'Leary objected, and Hirsch, struck her with his cane. When they came to close quarters Hirsch seemed to have become imbued with some of the instincts of the fighting dogs. He caught Miss O'Leary's arm in his teeth and bit her savagely. Then the bloodhound tied to the string and the other one that had been shaking the life out of Mr. Hirsch's terrier sprang for Mr. Hirsch,
